

Jacob Chase McEntire

Jacob is a micro preemie, born at 25 weeks gestational age. He weighed 1 lb. 14 oz. He was born 3 1/2 months early, and spent 3 months in the NICU.

Jacob is 7 years old now, but developmentally he is more like a 4 1/2 year old. He has learning disabilities that we never knew he had. We never received any early intervention. That is one thing my husband and I both are very saddened about. We have been through 3 different pediatricians and not one of them thought anything was wrong. We would tell them things, and they would tell us not to worry. Jacob will catch up, and they would say he's a boy they are always behind in things.

Then I found out that there was such thing as a We took our son to her, and she automatically noticed exactly what we were talking about. Jacob has been diagnosed with many different learning disabilities since.
